Former Senator Hill, William F. Sheehan, former Sen-ator Murphy and State Senator Mcwill cast them for Parker, who will likely be nominated on the first ballot, and surely on the second."

Platform Not Drawn Up.

Senator Hill's headquarters tonight, and the tonight of Judge Parker to stand on, and that even a rough draft will not be forthcoming until Wednesday; and, second, that Judge Parker as a candidate will readily stand upon any platform that a majority of the convention agree upon. This last statement is significant because it is thoroughly well known that he would not stand on a radical platform. It is, therefore, evident that Parker supporters are already assured that the convention will not agree to even a suggestion of radicalism as suggested by Eryan and Hearst supporters, but, indeed, will strongly tend in an entirely different direction, particularly on the financial support of the strong to the dent of the popularity of the Maryland senator and the strongest arguments brough to be a to show that he ought to be named. A man close to Sen ator Hili said tonight:

With many they are in a state of confidence, so unpledged and uninstructed delegates, much so indeed that they are not paying any attention to the arrival of the leaders of the Tammany delegations. In fact, Senator McCarren said this evening: "We are looking for people who have uninstructed votes to deliver. The Tammany votes will be cast by ex-Senator Murphy, who votes New York state under the unit rule, and he will cast them for Parker who will successful. If not Parker, then Gorman; or-re-motely-Cleveland.

Two things were stated definitely at enator Hill's headquarters tonight, st. that no platform has been drawn for Judge Parker to stand on, and

Some Uncertainty. There has developed two distinct sit-uations without regard to candidates. One is a desire to "mix it up" and have a convention which will be uncertain up to the last moment. The other is a "band wagon" contingent, which want the matter settled as soon as possible and the matter settled as possible and the matter settled

The opponents of Judge Parker raise a number of objections. Hill, as his political backer, and August Belmont, as a representative of the business interests behind him, are said to be unpleasant for many delegates. The opposition of Tammany in New York and for St. Louis, and many of them were step behind him, are said to be unpleasant for many delegates. The opposition of Tammany in New York and of the consideration of a financial plank in the platform. There is some difference of opinion as to whether the plank should read "sound money" or simply refer to the "money of the constitution," while a few think it would be proper to declare for a gold standard. This latter thing will not be dead and any other man, Cleveland alone excepted. Yet several of the delegations under instructions for Hearst freely announce their preference for Parker and expect to vote for him.

at a conference on Tuesday or Wednesday. But Senator Hill wants it distinctly understood that he has no platform prepared and that the only thing he is devoting his aftention to is the nomination of Judge Parker."

Gorman's Position.

Soon after Mr. Bryan's arrival in St. Louis there was some talk about Judge Gray, mainly because a report had been circulated that the Nebraska man would support Gray in preference to any other candidate. Occasionally the name of Joseph Folk is heard, and Some of the assurance of the Parker managers on the success of their candidate was based upon a statement made to them by a close supporter of Senator Gorman, who said that the senator had refused to allow his name to be used for the purpose of effecting Bryan, and equally as magnetic, will present Judge Parker's name, will be seconding speeches fright several states. Every preparation for a splendid reception to New York's favorite son has been made and the impression is hoped to carry weight.

Gormen Sends Letter.

Mr. Gorman, Ir., brought a letter from his father to Senator Davis, the contents of which were not stated. A report was circulated that the letter author facel Mr. Davis to take Gorman's name out of the presidential discussion, bout Mr. Davis to take Gorman's name out of the presidential discussion, out Mr. Davis said this was not true.

It is expected that a formal announcement will be made tomorrow that Senator Gorman is a candidate. Meanwhile effort is are being made to keep favorite sons in the field.
